

PROFILE

The Université d'Artois currently has an enrollment of 11,500 students. Spread over several campuses, the Université d'Artois serves a number of medium-sized French cities that are undergoing significant changes. With locations in Arras, Béthune, Lens, Douai, Liévin, the university has established itself as a force for community improvement. It provides a welcoming and stimulating environment in which to learn and grow. Partly because of its size, the Université d'Artois is an accessible yet thoroughly modern and dynamic institution that is responding to a changing educational system by offering innovative programs that artfully combine academic knowledge and practical skills. A comprehensive university, Artois offers a wide range of degree programs from 2-year undergraduate degrees to doctoral programs (in both traditional and continuing-education formats) in the following broad areas of learning:

- Humanities
- Law, economics, and management
- Science and technology
